

ABSTRACT

An integrated circuit for multi-port communications is provided. The integrated circuit includes a high speed bus interface to interface to a core chipset through a high speed bus. A serial mass data storage host adapter is in communication with the high speed bus interface to control a high speed mass data storage unit. A network controller is in communication with the high speed bus interface to control a network port.

10143953.doc